

BURNED IN HIS CABIN

Henry McVeigh Receives Very Serious Injuries, But May Recover.

LEFT HIS CANDLE LIGHTED

The Fire is Quickly Extinguished, But the Firemen Have a Row and the Case is Taken to the Police Court.

The firemen's hall was over but a few hours yesterday morning when the first alarm sounded in this city since last March awoke the weary sleepers. Perhaps there were some who were not yet asleep for the department was out and ready for business in quick time.

The cause of the alarm was a blaze in a cabin in the rear of Ernest Jaccott's saloon on Front street. When Harry McVeigh retired for the night, he left a candle burning on a chair at the head of the bed. He soon fell asleep and while he slept the candle burned down till at last it set fire to the chair, the floor and the bed. There being no draught it merely smoldered and smoked, and McVeigh from sleep drifted into unconsciousness from the smoke.

At last the fire burned through the wall and began to crackle as it reached the air. Russell Sawyer, whose room is in an adjoining building, heard the noise and got up to investigate it. When he threw open the door of McVeigh's cabin the smoke rolled out and the interior began to blaze. Sawyer roused the inmates of the next room, Charles Willard and William Bauer, who ran in and pulled McVeigh out of the cabin which was by this time a fiery furnace.

Sawyer sounded a police whistle and the department soon had the fire extinguished. Dr. St. Jean was summoned and took charge of the injured man, who was taken to the fire hall and afterwards to St. Ann's hospital. His left arm and side were badly burned, and one side of his face. The burns, however, are not necessarily fatal since McVeigh drew some of the flame into his lungs, and this could not be told yesterday.

McVeigh is a well known old timer in Anaconda and throughout the state. He was in California and in Nevada in the earlier days, where many people now in Montana knew him as one of the members of the legislature a doorknocker for that body. For ten years he has lived in this city, and for the most of that time he has been employed at the smelter. He was one of those engaged in placer mining in Alaska in the early days. It was very fortunate a still morning, for had there been a wind and the fire had a little more of a start, several frame buildings in the vicinity could not have been saved.

The work of the fire department was accomplished very successfully but not harmoniously, and the friction that has for some time past existed between Chief Eaton and other members of the department was the cause.

The department, exclusive of the Columbia hose company, refuses to recognize Elston as chief and says that he is deposed and that Arthur Fortier is chief. Up to this time the city council has recognized Elston as the chief, and ignored the right of the department to remove him from office. Each chief, therefore, had a hose company at the fire. Columbia hose No. 2, being composed of friends of Elston, and Phoenix No. 1 of friends of Fortier. There was a clash of authority, therefore, at the fire and afterward at the fire house. When the cars were to be put back in place a dispute arose between George Elston and Charles Bertsch over a hose cart. Words were exchanged and blows struck, and it is claimed that Bertsch drew a revolver. Bystanders intervened and the belligerents were separated. Yesterday morning a warrant was sworn out charging Elston with assault and battery. He was arrested and the case set for hearing at 5 o'clock last evening, but at that time it was continued to 10 o'clock this morning. The witnesses for the city are L. Copius, Arthur Fortier, James Wilson, Jacob Falk and Barry Falk, and for the defense Barney Leonard, Con O'Connor, Frank O'Brien, F. Condon, W. M. Egan, Sol Williams and Dr. F. L. St. Jean. City Attorney English appeared for the prosecution and Colonel O'Leary for the defense.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Yesterday was a busy day in Judge Rockwell's court, though the work was not of an exciting kind. The most important case was that of John Henney, alias Raymond, for stealing nine pairs of trousers from the Copper City Commercial company. The charge was changed from grand larceny to petit larceny and to this the prisoner pleaded guilty. Judge Rockwell then gave him a sentence that fell like lead upon the prisoner, who, like many others, thought that life in the Deer Lodge jail was a life of luxury. Henney will receive a different idea now, his sentence was that he serve 90 days in jail, pay a fine of $100, which will extend the jail sentence three months more, and for the last half of his sentence shall be kept on a diet of bread and water. James Sweeney, a vag, was sent down for 30 days.

Sarsfield O'Keefe, Pat Ryan, George Baker, A. McIntosh and James Roach were fined $5 and costs each and ordered to work out the same on the public streets.

THE SIX OF DIAMONDS.

Senator Wolcott's Nerve as a Poker Player II illustrated.

From the Washington Star.

"I suppose Senator Wolcott is one of the coolest men living when engaged in a game of chance," said Albert Watson of Denver, who was one of a party of gentlemen on the Cochran yesterday. "Like most men whose early manhood has been spent on the frontier, he learned the value of a poker hand and the best way to lose cases as soon as he learned law, and he was known as a 'limit' player all over Colorado before his fame as a lawyer had spread outside of Denver. When playing faro he always did, and does yet, but as much on the turn of a card as the dealer will allow him to and when he sits in a poker game the other people want to keep their eyes wide open and play their cards mighty close up to their chests. Wolcott once found himself in a game of poker where three of the other players were playing a sure game. They were 'professionals,' and were after a big bundle of money that he had in his possession, as well as looking for that which the fifth player, a mining operator named Durkin, was known to have. Wolcott knew in 20 minutes after the first hand was dealt that the intention was to rob him, and he wore his wits trying to find a way to get out of the game without making trouble, but he couldn't discover a means to save him. At last he was dealt a pat flush of diamonds, made up of the 5, 7, 8, 9 and jack.

"He skinned those cards over and did a mighty piece of thinking. He felt in his bones that a flush would be no account in the world when it came to a showdown, but he chipped in and stayed to draw cards. To his surprise he wasn't raised before the draw. He looked over his bright-red diamonds again and concluded to draw a card, in order, if possible, to straighten the sequence. He pondered a long time between discarding the five-spot or the picture, and at last tossed away the jack and called for a card. The dealer looked surprised at his wanting any, but gave him the card. Wolcott picked it up and found that he had not the six-spot of diamonds. He never turned a hair. The betting began and he nursed his sequence of diamonds and just stayed along, letting the other fellows do the raising. At last it got down to Wolcott and one of the professionals. Finally there was a call made and the other man showed four queens. Wolcott laid down the five, six, seven, eight and nine of diamonds and swept in the pot. The game stopped right there. I reckon that was the greatest piece of luck any man ever had in a poker game."
